BURFORD CAPITAL UPDATES ON FUND BUSINESS PROGRESS AND ANNOUNCES EXPANSION AND REALIGNMENT OF SENIOR TEAM

Burford Capital Limited (“Burford” or “the Company”), a leading global finance firm and investment management firm focused on law, today reports on the strong progress of its fund business at the one-year anniversary of its acquisition of Gerchen Keller Capital (“GKC”) and announces changes in Burford’s staffing and structure that position the business to meet the continuing growth of the legal finance sector.

Burford’s fund business

Burford announced the acquisition of GKC, the largest fund manager in the litigation finance sector, a year ago. That acquisition provided Burford with the ability to access private as well as public capital to meet the needs of its clients and broaden the sources of funding to finance its continuing growth.

Successful acquisition

The acquisition has been a success. Burford rapidly integrated GKC and now operates the business as a single unified platform. GKC is now known as Burford Capital Investment Management LLC, which serves as the US Securities and Exchange Commission-registered investment manager for all Burford investment funds, including those raised by GKC.

Fully integrated

Burford’s industry-leading legal investment team, into which GKC’s staff has been assimilated, now operates on a single cross-platform basis, reviewing all potential investments regardless of their source of capital and managing all ongoing investments. Burford uses a single Investment Committee to review all commitments of new capital to any strategy.

$16 million in 2017 fund income already contributed

Financially, the funds business has contributed management fee income and early performance fee income. In 2017, we expect to earn approximately $13 million in management fees from the funds. In addition, we expect approximately $3 million in performance fees to be released in 2017, a figure larger and earlier than our original expectations. The performance to date of the funds business has exceeded our expectations at the point of acquisition.

In addition to that direct fund income, Burford has also benefited from a further $2.9 million in income from the successful resolution of an investment originally held on GKC’s balance sheet and purchased directly by Burford as part of the GKC acquisition.

Early success from new complex strategies fund

We were pleased to raise a new $500 million fund for complex strategies in June 2017. Our complex strategies investments have already enjoyed early success. We have made six investments to date, committing $311 million of capital, a more rapid pace than we were originally projecting. One of the investments has already resolved, generating $3.8 million in gross profit on an investment of $22.8 million, for a gross IRR of more than 200%.

Other funds show multi-year financial potential

As to our other funds, 24 resolved investments in the three Partners funds and associated sidecars have generated a 64% return on invested capital to date with an average duration of 1.6 years, producing a gross IRR of 52%. The three Partners funds presently have 53 ongoing investments.

Burford's post-settlement investments in its credit opportunities fund and associated sidecars have returned more than $600 million to investors to date, with a gross IRR of 14% on those lower-risk, shorter-duration investments and an average duration of 0.7 years.

Burford's management structure and staffing

Christopher Bogart and Jonathan Molot, respectively Burford's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Investment Officer, have both renewed their employment agreements with Burford through the end of 2020.

As a result of the successful and rapid completion of the integration of the fund business within the Group, the three GKC principals (Adam Gerchen, Ashley Keller and Travis Lenkner) will become Senior Advisers to Burford and continue to serve on the Burford Investment Committee while stepping back from their operating roles. In their new positions, they will continue to lend their insights to the business while also being able to pursue other ventures, although they will remain subject to non-compete and non-solicitation agreements until December 2020 and a lock-up on their Burford stock until December 2019.

Burford has been engaged in a program of continuous growth and expansion of its industry-leading team, adding 22 new staff in 2017. Presently, we have a team of around 90, including around 40 experienced lawyers. Our team also includes a broad range of multi-disciplinary experts, including former investment bankers, asset managers, private equity professionals and hedge fund managers.
